5 FACTS ABOUT COW FOOD

1 Feed generally is the single largest production expense for cattle operators. Whatever is fed needs to supply energy and protein levels that meet the animals' nutritional needs. High prices for soy have operators seeking alternatives for both corn and soy.

2 Corn alternatives are in particular demand because supplies are so tight that in some areas of the country, feed corn is not available at any price.

3 Pricing and availability of the many different "co-products" as they are called, varies from place to place, but buyers report savings of 10 percent to 50 percent.

4 The price of corn surged to record highs this summer due to drought damage.

5 The Department of Agriculture said last month the harvest now underway will yield the smallest corn crop in six years due to the drought that is still gripping more than half of the nation.

Sweet or sour?

Cattle farmers replacing pricey corn feed with sugary treats

Reuters

KANSAS CITY, Mo. Mike Yoder's herd of dairy cattle are living the sweet life. With corn feed scarcer and costlier than ever, Yoder increasingly is looking for cheaper alternatives—and this summer he found a good deal on ice cream sprinkles.

"It's a pretty colorful load," said Yoder, who operates about 450 dairy cows on his farm in northern Indiana. "Anything that keeps the feed costs down."

As the worst drought in half a century has ravaged this year's U.S. corn crop and driven corn prices sky high, the market for alternative feed rations for beef and dairy cows also has skyrocketed. Brokers are gathering up discarded food products and putting them out for the highest bid to feed lot operators and dairy producers, who are scrambling to keep their animals fed.

In the mix are cookies, gummy worms, marshmallows, fruit loops, orange peels, even dried cranberries. Cattlemen are feeding virtually anything they can get their hands on that will replace the starchy sugar content traditionally delivered to the animals through corn.

"Everybody is looking for alternatives," said Ki Fanning, a nutritionist with Great Plains Livestock Consulting in Eagle, Neb. "It's kind of funny the first time you see it but it works well. The big advantage to that is you can turn something you normally throw away into something that can be consumed. The amazing thing about a ruminant, a cow, you can take those type of ingredients and turn them into food."

Fall is too cool for summer

Grant Yanney

» redeye@tribune.com
» @g312

Dear fall,
It's good seeing you again. Your crisp air has injected life into all of us, and I can't wait to stomp on your crunchy leaves. You're never too old to do that, you know!

You're my favorite season. It's not just your colorful foliage. You're all about change—just like President Obama. You pick up where summer left off, reminding us that change is inevitable. It's a formality.

Your homie, summer, had her cool moments. The free concerts and live grooves in the park. The different festivals (African, jazz, art and all the ones involving food). Certain things about your friend never get old, like the beautiful women walking in their resplendence to lunch breaks on Michigan Avenue. Summer held me down with outdoor tennis, good convos with friends on rooftops and all the wine and scotch tastings I could handle. Pitchfork, North Coast and Lollapalooza were live. I even bumped into Dave Chappelle at a Lolla after-party and managed to avoid asking when "Chappelle's Show" is coming back.

But as great as summer was, some things were played out. Most specifically, violent crime. Maybe because you're so cool, you can help quell some of this foolishness? That's why I like you, fall. You are chill. Let's pray the goons chill out too.

And forget about a "cuffing season," fall. No need for corny calendars to define love's arrival. When the time is right, I want it to be natural like you. And as fashionable. When you come around, everyone knows they better have their gear tight. I've got a box of threads with your name on it. Literally. I might have to stock up on some new sweaters, sweatshirts, cardigans, blazers, thermals and hoodies. Hoodie season for the win was our little inside joke. Remember?

I was wondering what you think about me growing out my hair a little. Just like how

Brad Pitt and those A-list actor dudes grow out wild beards and make looking scruffy cool. Well, maybe not that extreme, but definitely a mild change from the bald fade. The Even Steven look was cool, but I really want to impress you.

Maybe your arrival will bring some renewed energy to Chicago's sports teams. My White Sox are close to clinching the division title. We could use your good luck for a deep playoff run this October. Wouldn't it be cool if '05 happened over again? I know you've been watching a bunch of football. Perhaps you can talk some sense into Jay Cutler. He thinks he's Brett Favre. Unfortunately, the Cubs still stink. Sorry, no changes there.

In all seriousness, fall, you denote a cool marker in time that helps us find our way. My mentor always taught me to know where you're at so you can get to where you need to be. With you here, that means we are a few steps closer to the next season, which transitions us into a new year. A new you. A new season.

Tell winter I'm not ready yet.

Sincerely,
Grant

SOCIAL MEDIA WEEK

REDEYE'S PICKS FOR THE SOCIAL MEDIA EVERYMAN

First things first: Someone tells you he's a "social media expert"? Shake the man's hand, politely excuse yourself and walk away. There's no such thing, but there are plenty of us who spend the entirety of our days on social media, experimenting with social media and realizing we know nothing about it, as it's constantly changing.

For six days in September, several cities across the globe simultaneously host panels, events and more to celebrate Social Media Week (Sept. 24-28). Like social media but don't necessarily want to get involved as a techie, an entrepreneur or a social media geek? Here are a few events that might be worth your time.

Tribune Sports: Social Media is Changing the Game

2-3:30 p.m. Monday,
Campbell Hall,
Tribune Tower

Social media and sports go hand in hand these days, especially in Chicago. Meet a few of the Tribune's sportswriters to hear what goes into their now-24/7 jobs on the sports-Twitter desk.

Facebook and Government

Noon-1:30 p.m. Tuesday,
120 South Riverside Plaza

If you couldn't tell from your turbulent Facebook feed, it's an election year. Facebook's associate policy manager, Adam Connor, offers up some insight on how elected offices and officials are using everyone's favorite social network to engage with their constituents. Plus, Mayor Emanuel's director of social media sits in for a Q&A afterward.

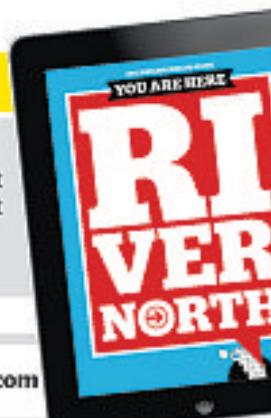

From Chicago to Berlin: Tostitos Silent House Party

3-4 p.m., Wednesday,
435 N. Michigan Avenue

I swear Social Media Week is more than panels. Ever been to a silent disco? Check out this "silent house party" with sister Social Media Week city Berlin. Attendees in both cities with simultaneously listen to DJs and live-tweet parties in their respective cities via wireless headphones.

How To Get Rid Of Knee Pain Once And For All... Without Drugs, Shots, or Surgery

Now, in Downtown Chicago, IL, one doctor is helping local residents with knee pain live more active, pain-free lives.

Living with knee pain can feel like a crippling experience.

Let's face it, your knees aren't as young as you used to be, and playing with the kids or grandkids isn't any easier either. Maybe your knee pain keeps you from walking short distances or playing golf like you used to.

Nothing's worse than feeling great mentally, but physically feeling held back from life because your knee hurts and the pain just won't go away!

My name is Dr. Paul Ruzila, owner of Chicago Chiropractic & Wellness. Since we opened eight years ago, we've seen hundreds of people with knee problems leave the office pain free.

Do You Have Any of the Following Conditions?

- Arthritis
- Knee pain
- Cartilage damage
- 'Bone-on-bone'
- Tendonitis
- Bursitis
- Crunching and popping sounds

Here's What Our Patients Say... "I was in denial about my knees as I winced on stairs, and put off going for a run. I didn't want to hear that I needed surgical intervention. I admit I was skeptical about how my knees could be improved with such non-invasive procedures. But I am happy to report that I was wrong. I went for my first run in about 18 months. NO PAIN! Thanks for relieving my knee pain!" - Jeff K.

If you're suffering from these conditions, a new breakthrough in medical technology may completely eliminate your pain and help restore normal function to your knees.

Finally, You Have An Option Other Than Drugs or Surgery

New research in a treatment called low level laser therapy, or cold laser, is having a profound effect on patients suffering with knee pain. Unlike the cutting type of laser seen in movies and used in medical procedures, the cold laser penetrates the surface of the skin with no heating effect or damage.

Cold laser therapy has been tested for 40 years, had over 2000 papers published on it, and been shown to aid in damaged tissue regeneration, decrease inflammation, relieve pain and boost the immune system. This means that there is a good chance cold laser therapy could be your knee pain solution, allowing you to live a more active lifestyle.

Professional athletes like Lance Armstrong and team members of the New England Patriots rely upon cold laser therapy to treat their sports-related injuries. These guys use the cold laser for one reason only...

It Promotes Rapid Healing Of The Injured Tissues.

Before the FDA would clear the cold laser for human use, they wanted to see proof that it worked. This led to two landmark studies.

The first study showed that patients who had cold laser therapy had 53% better improvement than those who had a placebo. The second study showed patients who used the laser therapy had less pain and more range of motion days after treatment. If the cold laser can help these patients, it can help you too.

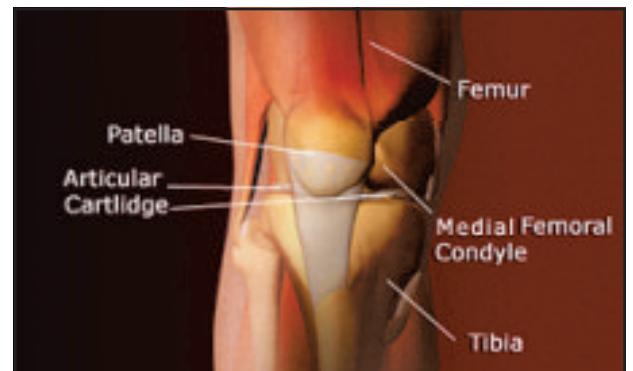

Could This Non-Invasive, Natural Treatment Be The Answer To Your Knee Pain?

For 10 days only, I'm running a very special offer where you can find out if you are a candidate for cold laser therapy.

What does this offer include? Everything I normally do in my "Knee Pain Evaluation." Just call before October 5th, 2012 and here's what you'll get...

- An in-depth consultation about your problem where I will listen... really listen...to the details of your case.
- A complete neuromuscular examination.
- A full set of specialized x-rays to determine if arthritis is contributing to your pain.
- A thorough analysis of your exam and x-ray findings so we can start mapping out your plan to being pain free.
- You'll see everything first hand and find out if this amazing treatment will be your pain solution, like it has been for so many other patients.

Until October 5th, 2012 you can get everything I've listed here for only $19. The normal price for this type of evaluation including x-rays is $250, so you're saving a considerable amount by taking me up on this offer.

A new treatment is helping patients with knee pain live a happier, more active lifestyle.

Remember what it was like before you had knee problems. When you were pain free and could enjoy everything life had to offer. It can be that way again. Don't neglect your problem any longer – don't wait until it's too late.

Here's what to do now:

Due to the expected demand for this special offer, I urge you to call our office at once. The phone number is 312-212-1150.

Call today and we can get started with your talk, exam and x-rays as soon as there's an opening in the schedule. Our office is called Chicago Chiropractic & Wellness and you can find us in downtown Chicago. Tell the receptionist you'd like to come in for the Knee Evaluation before October 5th, 2012.

Sincerely,

Dr. Paul Ruzila, D.C.

P.S. Now you might be wondering...

"Is this safe? Are there any side effects or dangers to this?"

The FDA cleared the first cold laser in 2002. This was after their study found 76% improvement in patients with carpal tunnel syndrome. Their only warning – don't shine it in your eyes.

Of course at our office, the laser is never anywhere near your eyes and we'll give you a comfortable pair of goggles for safety.

Don't wait and let your knee problems get worse, disabling you for life. Take me up on my offer and call today 312-212-1150.

Symphony strike threatens concerts

Teachers again? Nope, this time it's musicians who stage a walkout

Chicago Tribune

No sooner had a weeklong strike by Chicago public school teachers been settled than a walkout by musicians of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra over the weekend again focused national attention on labor matters in the city.

The strike resulted in the cancellation of a concert under Riccardo Muti's direction Saturday night at Symphony Center and threatened several more scheduled concerts later this week, along with a scheduled tour to New York and Mexico in early October. It comes as a serious blow to the reputation of an internationally celebrated cultural institution at which labor contracts have been hard-fought over the years but have generally been settled without backroom contention boiling over into the media before they were signed.

Deborah Rutter, president of the CSO Association, the orchestra's parent body, refused to speculate about whether the scheduled subscription concerts Wednesday and Friday nights, a run-out concert to Ann Arbor, Mich., on Thursday or Saturday's Symphony Ball fundraiser would be canceled if the two sides failed to reach an agreement early this week. Nor would she say whether the orchestra's Oct. 3-10 tour to Carnegie Hall and two cities in Mexico would have to be postponed or scrapped.

"When you're in these dynamic situations, everything's at risk," Rutter said. "We have to plan for every contingency. I'm working on the assumption we will be able to move forward with [the tour]."

No further bargaining sessions have been scheduled for this week, she added. In keeping with the general policy of orchestra music directors, Muti has not issued any statement about the strike and was not available for comment Sunday.

There was no picket line Sunday outside Symphony Center as there was the previous evening. The next activities in danger of cancellation, with musicians returning to the picket lines, are two rehearsals scheduled for Tuesday and a subscription concert Wednesday night.

"We will not be playing Tuesday until we have an agreement," said CSO bass player Stephen Lester, chairman of the orchestra members committee, which negotiates the musicians' contracts.

NO DEAL

The three-year contract rejected by the musicians would have provided them with a minimum base weekly salary of $2,795 in the first year, $2,835 in the second and $2,910 in the third, according to a statement released by the CSO. The previous weekly base minimum salary, per the five-year contract that expired Sept. 16, was $2,785.

EXPRESS LINES

- Bail was set at $100,000 and $75,000 on Saturday for two men charged with depositing two checks stolen from President Obama's campaign headquarters into bank accounts they fraudulently opened.
- A man died Friday after plunging into the Chicago River from the Michigan Avenue bridge. A tourist from Malaga, Spain, who jumped into the water to try to rescue him survived, officials said.
- On Oct. 1, the city will begin a six-week rehabilitation of the northbound on-ramp to Lake Shore Drive from Michigan Avenue at Oak Street.
- Two men were stabbed, another badly beaten and a fourth arrested early Sunday after a fight on Division Street spilled over onto State Street, according to police. TRIBUNE

Students of the Student Subscription Series

Dear Chicago Public School Teachers,

Welcome back!

As a proud partner with Chicago public high school teachers for 27 years through our Student Subscription Series, the Goodman has exposed thousands of students to the brilliant performances of actors like Brian Dennehy and Carla Gugino, and the prize-winning plays of writers like Lynn Nottage and Eugene O'Neill. Our partner teachers use our productions to expose their students to both the art of dramatic literature and resonant issues in the contemporary world in which they live.

Our Dramatic Integration (DI) professional development seminars have introduced hundreds of teachers to arts integration. In DI, teachers develop instructional plans that integrate theater across disciplines and create lesson plans that meet Common Core Standards for grades 8 through 12. Show-specific workshops give teachers access to the artists, actors and administrators that make the Goodman one of the nation's most well-regarded artistic homes.

The classroom resources we provide—student study guides, scripts and online teacher resources—build critical thinking skills, facilitate discussions in class and promote deeper learning through collaboration and practice.

And because we understand that there is rarely enough money or resources for many schools, the Goodman provides all of our educational programs free of charge to our partner schools!

To join the Goodman's Student Subscription Series and learn more about what we do, visit our website at GoodmanTheatre.org/StudentSub.

Hostage taker updated Facebook for hours

The police involved in a hostage situation were faced with an interesting decision.

It wasn't whether to send in a robot or storm into a building, it was whether to have the hostage taker's Facebook page shut down.

Here's what they knew: A 22-year-old man in Pittsburgh had taken another man hostage and was holed up in a suite on the 16th floor of a high-rise office building.

And the suspect, Klein Michael Thaxton, had been on Facebook for hours.

"People were sending Facebook messages. We could see that he was paying more attention to Facebook than to the negotiating team, which was hampering our abilities to resolve the situation," Diane Richard, a spokeswoman for Pittsburgh Police Department, said about Friday's incident.

Richard said SWAT officers kept an eye on the Facebook page for at least two hours before making a joint decision with the district attorney to ask for the page to be shut down.

Facebook, through a spokesman, declined to comment.

Richard said not every message asked Thaxton to give up, that some encouraged him to keep going.

Detective Robert Shaw of the Pittsburgh homicide division said Thaxton was arraigned Saturday and charged with aggravated assault, kidnapping and terrorist threats. Thaxton is being held on $1 million bail.

"Mr. Thaxton has expressed remorse for what has happened. However, at this time we do not wish to speculate as to why this alleged incident occurred," his attorneys said in a statement. "Moreover, we are unable to discuss his mental health history or the role that a mental health disorder may have played in this matter."

3 Trader Joe's recalls peanut butter

Trader Joe's voluntarily has ordered the recall of its Creamy Salted Valencia Peanut Butter at stores nationwide because of potential salmonella contamination.

4 Newborn panda dies

The giant panda cub born at the National Zoo just one week ago died Sunday, zoo officials said. The exact cause of the baby panda's death is yet to be determined.

5 Texas police fatally shoot disabled man

A double amputee in a wheelchair was shot and killed by Houston police after threatening an officer with what turned out to be a pen, local media reported Sunday.

6 Libya warns rogue groups

Libya's army on Sunday ordered rogue armed groups in and around Tripoli to leave state and military premises or be ejected by force, apparently seeking to capitalize on the withdrawal of militias from Benghazi and Derna.

Jay Cutler's run-in with offensive lineman J'Marcus Webb has dominated Bears talk lately. Fans are questioning whether they get along well enough to win. Well, the truth is both the quarterback and the O-line need to pick up their game, and this week's matchup against St. Louis was the first chance for them to regain their stride. So, would the Bears end up on solid ground or shaky footing? Here's how it played out Sunday. REDEYE

JAY'S FAVE

Finally, Jay Cutler is surrounded with formidable weapons. Each game, we'll track the target that tempts him most.

Week 1: Brandon Marshall

Week 2: Matt Forte

Sunday: Marshall (five catches, 71 yards). The wide receiver's efforts included an acrobatic grab for 34 yards in the fourth that took the wind out of the Rams' sails. For that, we can forgive the ball he bobbled that led to a Cutler interception.

WEEK 3

NY. GIANTS	36	BUFFALO	24	DALLAS	16	JACKSONVILLE	22	NY. JETS	23	MINNESOTA	24	KANSAS CITY	27	DETROIT	41
CAROLINA	7	CLEVELAND	14	TAMPA BAY	10	INDIANAPOLIS	17	MIAMI	20	SAN FRANCISCO	13	NEW ORLEANS	24	TENNESSEE	44

1ST QUARTER

Solid: For the first time all season, the Bears' first play from scrimmage does not end in a sack of Cutler. That's because they wisely hand the ball to Michael Bush, who gains 12 yards. Sounds like a plan. (1:54)

Solid: Cutler rolls out and hits Brandon Marshall for 9 yards. The Bears figured out MUCH more quickly this game that this combination works. (14:16)

Shaky: Left guard Chilo Rachal commits a false start penalty. Let's not make that a habit, please. (13:18)

Shaky: Cutler takes a hit from two Rams as he attempts to hit Alshon Jeffery on a pass down the right sideline. One of those Rams is Cortland Finnegan, whose actions have been labeled as borderline dirty. Watch out, Jay. (10:56)

Shaky: On the next play, St. Louis' Robert Quinn beats Webb's block and pummels Cutler just as he releases a pass toward Marshall. Webb's still got work to do. At least the Bears get a field goal out of the drive. (10:46)

Shaky: Bears right guard Lance Louis commits a false start penalty. Great. Even more yards to cover. (5:23)

Shaky: Cutler almost spins out of a sack but eventually gets taken down. Ugh. (5:07)

Solid: A screen play to Bush on third-and-17 goes for 18 yards and a first down. Credit Louis and Roberto Garza with clearing the way. We love you guys again! (4:56)

Solid: Lovie Smith goes for it on fourth-and-1, and he's rewarded as Bush gains 2 yards. (1:48)

Shaky: Marshall bobbles a pass and it's picked off by Finnegan, ending a promising drive. Gotta catch the ball, guys. (0:27)

SCORE: BEARS 3, ST. LOUIS 0

Bears quarterback Jay Cutler chases St. Louis cornerback Cortland Finnegan as he returns an interception.

E.JASON WAMBSGANS/Tribune

US PRESSWIRE

2ND QUARTER

Shaky: False start No. 3, this one on Rachal again. Not the best way to make friends with your QB, big fella. (6:49)

Solid: Khalil Bell stomps his way for 18 yards, thanks to a big hole created by none other than Webb. You show 'em, J'Marcus! (6:31)

Solid: In this case, Cutler getting hit is a good thing. He's hit late, drawing a roughing the passer penalty and keeping the drive alive. He follows it up with a pass to Marshall for 13 yards and another one for 12, in part thanks to good protection. First and goal, Bears! (2:47)

Solid: At the two-minute warning, Fox shows Cutler tending to a bloody thumb. Shortly thereafter, Bush's blockers make it easy for him on a 3-yard touchdown run. Points for toughness all around. (2:00)

SCORE: BEARS 10, ST. LOUIS 3

NUCCIO DINRUZZO/TRIBUNE

3RD QUARTER

Shaky: Cutler gets sacked on third-and-long, just three plays into the Bears' first possession of the second half. So much for second-half adjustments. (11:32)

Shaky: On their next drive, Cutler misses a double-covered Marshall on third-and-8, and fans bring the boos. Imagine how they'd react if the Bears were LOSING. (4:46)

SCORE: BEARS 10, ST. LOUIS 6

JOSE M. OSORIO/TRIBUNE

4TH QUARTER

Solid: For a split second, it looks like another bobbled Bears pass might end in a Cutler interception. But no, Alshon Jeffery eventually hauls this one in for a first down. That'll teach 'em to double cover Marshall. (15:00)

Solid: Cutler takes off on a scramble and gains 21 yards to set up first and goal. The drive goes nowhere from there, but at least they get a field goal. Robbie Gould's mom will be pleased, anyway. (11:22)

Solid: On the first play after a Rams punt, Cutler lobbs it up for Marshall, who comes down with a 34-yard grab. It sets up a field goal. More importantly, it looks like Cutler has his safety net back. Don't go anywhere, Brandon. (4:11)

FINAL SCORE: BEARS 23, ST. LOUIS 6

Bears wide receiver Alshon Jeffery makes a reception in the fourth quarter Sunday. Jeffery finished with five catches for 45 yards. JOSE M. OSORIO/TRIBUNE

CONCLUSION

The offense looks like it's in decent shape. Cutler was sacked only once, the penalties faded as the game wore on and the running game woke up a little. However, the offense doesn't look nearly as good as the defense. The Bears sacked Rams quarterback Sam Bradford six times and intercepted him twice, with one being returned for a touchdown. We're happy to have that dominate the conversation for a little while, come to think of it.

Bears D buys time—for offense

Jack M. Silverstein

✉ redeyesports@tribune.com

Mama said there'd be days like this. Days when the defensive line's relentless pursuit wins more battles than the uber-athleticism of the receiving corps. Days when the game-controlling freaks are Peppers and Idonije, not Marshall and Jeffery. Days when you win by double figures because you held the opponent without a touchdown, not because your offense scored five.

The Bears dusted off their run-stuffing, quarterback-pasting franchise identity during their 23-6 win over the St. Louis Rams, grinding

St. Looie quarterback Sam Bradford into the ground like a cigarette on the sidewalk. Israel Idonije—boom! Julius Peppers—whap! Stephen Paea—thump! Shea McClellin—whoosh! Five of the Bears' six sacks came from the defensive line, giving the Bears defense 14 over three games.

The other sack belonged to linebacker Nick Roach, who played stout, punishing football, as did his linebacker mates Brian Urlacher and Lance Briggs.

In the secondary, cornerback Tim Jennings became the first Bear since Lemuel Stinson in 1990 to intercept passes in each of the team's first three games, while earlier in the quarter it was Jennings who tipped a pass into the hands of safety Major Wright, who returned the pick 45 yards for his second career touchdown.

That play was this defense at its best. For all the talk about how the Bears offensive weapons will open the field for each other, it was the D that shined Sunday, all the pieces working together to create a devastating whole. First, defensive tackle Paea forced Bradford into a hurried throw toward receiver Danny Amendola. Then Jennings tipped the ball, Wright made the catch, and Briggs laid the wood on Amendola, who fell to the turf as Wright raced away.

The downside here is that the Bears were as superior to the Rams as the Packers were to the Bears, and that Jay Cutler (while nowhere near last week's abysmal performance) still performed far below expectations.

No matter. While the offense continues to work out its kinks, the defense continues to work. If you can't appreciate that, you're in the wrong city.

I grew up in central Florida but I went to college in northern Florida, so I appreciate Southern traditions. The Titans' stadium in Nashville is a wonderfully open venue with waterfront views, a Southern delicacy. As is customary in the South, beers are cheap and Johnny Cash is played as much as possible. But as is also customary in the South, the beer line is too long. Unfortunately in this game, although my shirt says "feeling like a Lion, everything is rawsome," Midwestern football against Southern football is nothing but blue.

1 Who's the most important player for the White Sox down the stretch?

Us fans. Don't stop now, boys! Go Sox!

Chris Sale. Be the ace you said you could be, dude.

The sound system guy—he's gotta pump in crowd noise when only 15K show up for playoff games.

Team chaplain. "Please God, bless Peavy and the 3, 4 and 5 starters down the stretch!"

Prince. You really think he's in town to play the UC?

2 The Sky failed to make the playoffs again. Console them.

"Hey, um, the Sky's the limit, ladies?" Yikes. That was horrible.

"Beers. My place. Bring a friend."

"Playoffs are overrated and unimportant—just ask the Cubs."

"How about a back rub, a glass of wine and we watch 'SportsCenter' together?"

"Relax. Deep breath. The sky isn't falling. Oh wait... never mind."

3 If the N.Y. Jets are bringing in sleep specialists, what's next?

RedEye bringing in Terry Tate, Office Linebacker?

Hypnosis, cuz what else is left?

A real quarterback?

I have news for the media. Outside of NYC, no one cares about the the mediocre Jets and Rex's wife's feet!

The Tim Tebow story. He now sleeps on water too.

4 Why won't Dwight Howard sign a long-term deal with the Lakers?

Because he's a flake. A super tall, muscular, cape-wearing flake.

Like many guys, he's afraid of commitment.

He finds their focus on hard work and winning quite off-putting.

Dwight is a baby. He's killing his brand. His shoes just dropped to the sale rack.

He's being advised by replacement refs.

5 What's with all the giant golf balls lining Michigan Avenue?

What's with FSU beating Clemson and still only being ranked No. 4?

I saw this episode of "Doctor Who." It's an alien invasion.

Tiger's in town for the Ryder Cup and those balls are like Amsterdam's red lights. Party's in here, Tiger!

Michael Jordan is in town, and you never know if he wants to hit golf balls or play some hoops!

It's Rahm's "show us your golf balls and I'll show you mine" program.

Suspense killing you?

Sox appear to be crumbling before our very eyes

If you think the Bears take their fans on a roller coaster ride, try following the White Sox.

As recently as Tuesday, Robin Ventura's crew had a three-game lead in the AL Central over Detroit, was riding a five-game winning streak and looked like it was about to take control of the division race for good.

Not so fast.

Now the Sox have lost five straight and are fighting for survival along with the Tigers with 10 games left in the regular season. The offense is the main culprit in the Sox's struggles, as they've scored only eight runs in their past five games. They're putting runners on base, but they're failing to drive them home with even a timely fly ball here and there.

The good news is they come home for seven games before closing out the year with three in Cleveland. That, and Detroit isn't playing all that well, either. So, will the Sox be celebrating a division win a week from Wednesday? Even if they do, you're gonna need aspirin before it's over.

‘LAND’ SLIDE

‘HOMELAND’ CLEANS UP AS ‘MAD MEN’ FINDS COMPETITION

By Curt Wagner

REDEYE

“Homeland” played the role of spoiler Sunday at the 64th Primetime Emmy Awards, taking prizes that seemed reserved for the likes of “Mad Men” and “Breaking Bad.”

Showtime’s espionage thriller was named best drama, blocking the chance for AMC’s “Mad Men” to make history by winning the trophy for the fifth year in a row. “Homeland” also scored wins for best dramatic actor (Damian Lewis) and actress (Claire Danes), and for best writing.

Lewis’ win for playing Marine Sgt. Nicholas Brody denied Bryan Cranston of “Breaking Bad” his fourth Emmy and once again made “Mad Men” star Jon Hamm an also-ran.

“I’m one of those pesky Brits. Apologies,” Lewis said, referring to host Jimmy Kimmel’s joke about how many British actors are on American TV. “I don’t really believe in judging art. But I thought I’d show up just in case. Turned out all right.”

A pregnant Danes was ecstatic when accepting her award for playing bipolar CIA operative Carrie Mathison, thanking “Homeland” co-stars, crew and creators as well as her husband, Hugh Dancy. “My husband, my love, my life, my baby daddy, this doesn’t mean anything without you,” she said.

“Homeland” made history of its own Sunday by winning the best drama award. It’s the first time a Showtime series has taken any of the four awards.

“Homeland” wasn’t the only freshman to take major prizes. Another newcomer—her show is anyway—Julia Louis-Dreyfus took home the Emmy for best comedy actress for her portrayal of bungling Vice President Selina Meyer on HBO’s “Veep.” The now three-time Emmy winner had the crowd laughing when she pretended to mix up her acceptance speech with that of fellow nominee, “Parks and Recreation” star Amy Poehler.

“I would like to thank NBC, ‘Parks and Rec’...,” Louis-Dreyfuss said. As she trailed

Damian Lewis

Claire Danes

off, Poehler got up to give her the correct speech. Louis-Dreyfus went on, “It really is in fact tremendous to be in the same category with these women who are so powerful and wonderful and know what they’re doing.”

“Lastly, isn’t it a shame that Amy Poehler didn’t win?” she said, looking at Poehler, who was back in her seat with a pencil in her hand, as if she had edited Louis-Dreyfus’ speech.

The oft-nominated Jon Cryer was surprised when he snagged only his second Emmy for playing Alan Harper in CBS’ “Two and a Half Men.” “This is crazy,” he said.

Many of the other awards were as expected as Jon Stewart suggested when his “The Daily Show” won best variety series for the 10th year in a row. Stewart suggested that after the Earth is destroyed, aliens would find the show’s Emmys. “They will find out just how predictable these [bleeping] things can be,” he cracked.

Predictable was the word in other comedy categories. ABC’s “Modern Family” won best comedy, best writing, best supporting actor (Eric Stonestreet) and actress (Julie Bowen).

CWAGNER@TRIBUNE.COM | @SHOWPATROL

OPENING STATEMENT

Emmy host Jimmy Kimmel took shots at Mitt Romney and “Mad Men” star Jon Hamm’s Emmy losing streak, among other topics, during his four-minute opening monologue. Here are some of his best jokes.

- » “‘Downton Abbey’ is an amazing show... It really gives you a sense of what it must have been like to grow up in Mitt Romney’s house.”
- » “Being a Republican in Hollywood is like being a Chick-fil-A sandwich on the snack table at ‘Glee.’”
- » “Television is an American institution, yet one out of every five actors here tonight is British. I guess we’re supposed to award them because they went to Royal Shakespeare Academy and ours were discovered at the mall.”
- » “Jon Hamm, you gave a tremendous performance this year, and I, for one, am shocked you didn’t win tonight... too soon?”

CARPET RIDE

The Emmys fashion wasn't quite magical—but it certainly was nutty

By Dana Moran | REDEYE

We could use plenty of words to describe Sunday's Emmy Awards red carpet, but "boring" certainly isn't one of them. We were overwhelmed by a parade of super-bright color, mermaid-y spangles and, um, Ashley Judd's majestic hairpiece. Here's the lucky few who did it right—and some of their less fortunate counterparts. If this is how we're starting awards season, we can't wait for the Os-

Now we know what Snooki did with all her old Bumplits. If you look closely, there's actually a hole being burned in the ozone layer above Ashley's head from all the hairspray. GETTY IMAGES

We were not aware there was such a thing as a bondage disco ball. Fortunately, she makes up for a terrifying bodice by being impossibly gorgeous. GETTY IMAGES

For fall vacation deals, look to Europe

By Leonor Vivanco

REDEYE

Workers who haven't used all their vacation days for the year might want to start planning. Fall is a great time to take a vacation, especially if you want to save money.

Some of the best deals can be found for European destinations, according to Clem Bason, president of discount travel site Hotwire Group. Hotels in many European cities are offering steep discounts thanks to the slowdown in demand from the London Olympics. With that and "the issue the European economy is having, this fall is a great time to travel to Europe," Bason said. "Maybe one of the best times ever."

Prices tend to drop off after summer—travel organizations call autumn the "shoulder" season for that reason—but the weakened euro has caused even deeper discounts, he said. Hotels in Prague, for example, are showing a 37 percent price drop, according to Hotwire.

Hotels aren't the only travel services lowering prices during shoulder season. Some airfares have dropped compared to last year.

Fares from Chicago to cities such as Frankfurt, Germany, have gone down 19 percent

TRIP TIPS

Clem Bason offers these three pointers for booking trips.

- » Look for the best deals in the three weeks between Thanksgiving and Christmas because people plan to travel for those holidays.
- » Consider buying packages that include a flight and car rental. Airlines give discounted rates for such bundles.
- » Don't be scared to book hotel rooms at the last minute. You'll be able to find a room at a bigger discount, sometimes even 50 percent off.

for travel from September through November. The lower airfares are unusual, considering airlines have cut the number of flights, he said. To find the best airfare value, go off the beaten path and consider cities such as Prague, Geneva and Budapest.

The best time to travel, or the "sweet spot," Bason said, is October, when the weather is likely to be good and there still are lower prices.

GETTY IMAGES FILE

Hotel prices are expected to stay low from September to February. Travel picks back up in March and April, he said, and that's when travel to Europe starts to get expensive again.

If you're looking to book a trip to a warmer locale, try Hawaii, Mexico or the Caribbean.

You'll find pretty good deals through Christmas, Bason said. But if you have your heart set on skiing during vacation, book for travel dates before snow falls and ski season really kicks off.

ment takes priority over calling for help.

For extremely vague reasons, Elissa and her mom (Elizabeth Shue) had to leave Chicago, and apparently they couldn't pass up the low rent on a house in small-town Woodshire, Penn.—even though the price reflects its location across from a house where a girl murdered her parents. Now seems like

Katniss wouldn't last a day with the survival skills of Elissa (Jennifer Lawrence of "The Hunger Games"), who subscribes to the age-old horror movie philosophies that an ominous noise outside means one should open the door, and that investigating a mysterious lair hidden below a base-a good time to point out that "House at the End of the Street" was written by David Loucka, who wrote the likewise contrived "Dream House" about a family who moves into a house where murders took place.

Now audiences can eagerly anticipate Loucka's next script, in which people arrive at a house two doors down from the site of a tragedy.

Everyone in town ignores Ryan (Max Thieriot), the lone survivor of the family massacre who, for whatever eerie reason, still lives in the house four years later. Elissa likes him, however, mostly as an alternative to the douchier neighbor (Nolan Gerard Funk) who tries to force himself on her. Loucka and director Mark Tonderai (who played "Egyptian orderly" in 2002's "The a character without any identifiable muscle possess super-human strength?

Most importantly, can we do Lawrence a favor and forget this ever happened?

The pods are 6.5 inches in diameter and are designed for plants in 2-inch pots.

Like a sweater for indoor plants

Felt plant pods from designers Eva Bauer and Hetal Jariwala, the duo behind Flip & Tumble, are a soft take on traditional ceramic planters.

"We had some recycled felt material that we really liked, and we thought it would be fun to create a soft planter that doesn't exist in the home," Bauer said.

The pods are 6.5 inches in diameter and are designed for plants in 2-inch pots. The 100 percent recycled felt is lined with plastic. Each comes with a dropper for watering.

Zigzag stitching gives each pod a sweet, handmade look. They're available in green, orange or gray. The pods are $14 apiece at Modern Folk Living (modernfolkliving.com), or flipandtumble.com. TRIBUNE

horoscopeROMANCE PLANETBY JENNIFER SHEPHERD | READ MORE AT LIPSTICKMYSTIC.COMLibra Sept. 23-Oct. 23

Don't put yourself last. You could have a great opportunity come your way, such as a chance to lead a project at work. Don't let other people take it away from you. Be more assertive in your personal and professional lives.

Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 21

Lately it seems like everybody around you is needy, whining and annoying, and you're the one who always has to fix things. Mars is urging you to take a break and to recharge your batteries.

Sagittarius Nov. 22-Dec. 21

People could be criticizing your romantic relationship or gossiping about your choice of dating partner. Ignore this petty nonsense. Enjoy good times with someone without worrying about responding to your critics.

Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19

Pay attention to those little details that affect your relationship. Look into things like custody arrangements, divorce and alimony settlements. Some of these issues might have an unexpected impact on your current romance.

Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 18

Someone you're mad about might finally notice that you're alive, thanks to the sun. You'll be tempted to drop your current relationship and chase after this other person. Ask yourself if that's really a good idea.

Pisces Feb. 19-March 20

Mars says to make sure people are listening to you. Your sweetheart might not realize that you have something important to say or your boss might not be paying attention to issues that need to be discussed.

Aries March 21-April 19

You could be attracted to someone who makes you feel inadequate. The sun says to get over your neuroses. People who have different qualities than you do can teach you a lot about life.

Taurus April 20-May 20

You're in the mood to lecture your significant other, thanks to cranky Mars. If you're stressed out, instead of blaming your honey, enjoy a nice round of sexy times together. You'll feel much better.

Gemini May 21-June 21

You're in a kinky mood, thanks to the moon. You'll be wondering about wild sexual practices which are completely foreign to you. As an air sign, you like to experiment. So what are you waiting for?

Cancer June 22-July 22

You'd be feeling better about romance if that cutie you've been hung up on would behave properly. Maybe your relationship has been on again, off again, and you're trying to explain your situation to friends.

Leo July 23-Aug. 22

A moon opposition has you wondering if it was a bad idea to get back together with that former flame for a quick round of sensual fun. It probably was. Times have changed and you have, too.

Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22

You need to talk about what's been going on in your romantic life with someone who will let you vent without passing judgment. The moon says call up an old friend or discuss things with an understanding family member.

DOUGLAS FOSTER

The Chicago Public Library welcomes Douglas Foster, associate professor at Northwestern University's Medill School of Journalism, for a discussion on his new book After Mandela: The Struggle For Freedom in Post-Apartheid South Africa. The free program takes place on Thursday, October 4 at 6 p.m., in the Cindy Pritzker Auditorium at the Harold Washington Library Center, 400 S. State St. According to Foster, half the population of South Africa is under the age of 24, and it's this younger generation that will shape the future of South Africa. For additional information, visit chicagopubliclibrary.org, or call 312-747-4050.

JANE AUSTEN: MULTIMEDIA MAVEN

Writers Karen Doornbos and Christine Shih, members of the Jane Austen Society of North America-Greater Chicago Region, will lead a panel discussion on the literary legacy of Jane Austen. The free program takes place on Saturday, September 29 at 2 p.m. in the Lower Level Multipurpose Room at the Harold Washington Library Center, 400 S. State St. For more information, visit chicagopubliclibrary.org, or call 312-747-4050.

humor makes her wince but helps her forget her day's problems.

In September 2011, Kling said she was walking into Zanies Comedy Club in St. Charles to see Steve-O's stand-up show when she got caught in a sidewalk crack and fell, breaking her walker.

"I was OK, but embarrassed," Kling said in an email she sent me after reading my recent interview with Steve-O. "... I have many joint problems and walking is difficult, but I was not going to miss any of Steve-O."

Once inside, Steve-O took a seat next to Kling and chatted with her until it was time for him to go onstage. "He was surprised I was such a big fan," said Kling, who guessed it had something to do with her age. "He asked me if I knew how dirty his show was. I told him yes and said, 'Dirty can be funny!'"

The 38-year-old comedian returned to Kling's seat after the show. He remembered her name and posed for a photo with her, which he later posted on his website.

When reached for comment Friday, Steve-O recalled meeting Kling. "I remember Judy well," Steve-O said by email. "She really made that night special."

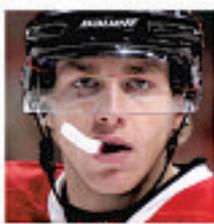

The encounter wouldn't be their last. Steve-O performed Thursday at Zanies in Chicago and Friday and Saturday at Zanies in Rosemont.

Steve-O reached out to Kling to give her two tickets to his early show Saturday. And because she stated that the long drive would keep her from attending his show, Steve-O sent a car to pick her and her son up and drive them to the show.

"Steve-O sat with us before his show," Kling said by email Sunday, adding that he gave her his personal number to call any time. "He took a few pics with me to make sure there was one I liked. I went home with a signed T-shirt and a lot of great memories."

Like Liz?
Lindsay Lohan is dripping in diamonds as Elizabeth Taylor in the first "Liz and Dick" trailer, released Thursday by Lifetime (find it at mylifelatime.com/movies). Expect red lips, sultry stares and a tendency to throw wine bottles at Richard Burton (Grant Bowler). The film airs nationwide Nov. 3.

Armstrong in rehab
Yikes. Billie Joe Armstrong has checked into rehab for substance abuse treatment, his rep told eonline.com. The Green Day frontman had an on-stage melt-down Friday at a Las Vegas music festival, in which he ranted about the amount of time the band had to perform, flipped off the camera and smashed a guitar. Here's hoping for a speedy recovery.

'Cinnamon' spice

We have a winner! Fox 21 has secured the rights to Renee Zellweger's "Cinnamon Girl" TV pilot, which Zellweger co-wrote and co-created. The story combines Zellweger's own journey from Texas to Hollywood and the late 1960s music and movie scene around Laurel Canyon and Hollywood.

That's how many movies tied for the top spot at the domestic box office over the weekend. "End of Watch" and "House at the End of the Street" pulled in $14 million apiece, Reuters reports. "Trouble with the Curve" was third with $12.7 million.

I CANNOT PUT INTO WORDS HOW MUCH I WISH I COULD TAKE BACK EVERY WORD.

—Paris Hilton, in a written apology posted at glaad.org, after she was caught on tape making derogatory comments about gay men.

Bradley Cooper and Zoe Saldana

The Hollywood couple appear to be back on, eonline.com reports. After apparently putting their relationship on ice, Saldana and Cooper were spotted looking rather cozy Saturday as they left a showing of "The Master." You just can't keep a cute couple down, can you?
